

FOUND ON EVEREST

Detectives on the roof of the world

A Soulstice Films release (90min)

5.1.1999—An accomplished team of climbers led by Everest veteran Eric Simonson finds the remains of legendary alpinist George Mallory, possibly the first to actually climb Everest in 1924.

3.15.2001—Simonson gathers nearly the exact same team once again on the north side of Mount Everest in an attempt to solve the mystery once and for all. Found on Everest is the inside story of this expedition. After three search rotations at 27,000 feet, the team's summit bid is thwarted by the discovery and rescue of five climbers stranded overnight on the North Ridge. After making the difficult decision to turn around 500 feet from the top, the group spends an epic day saving four of the five climbers.

The inside story on the 2001 Mallory & Irvine Research Expedition.
